WHEN DUMA'S AWAY
PRO-GERMANS PLAY

Russian Bureaucrats During Recess Drip War Committees.

GOES MERRILY ON

Treason Executions and Arrests Fail to Stop Peace Intrigues.

By JOHN L. BALDWIN.

LONDON, June 13.—It is as often said in western Europe, the Russian bureaucracy is dying. It is showing vigor remarkable in an invalid. Information from a neutral and well-informed source in Petrograd shows clearly that the pro-German court party has not been killed, and is very much alive and kicking in spite of the arrest for high treason of its war minister, General Sukhomlinoff, the execution of Colonel Mladonoff and other highly placed officers, and the failure of its attempts to win the czar over to a separate peace with Germany.

Successes Severe Blow.

The Russian successes against the Austrians have doubtless been a severe blow to the peace intriguers, whose machinations in the opinion of my informant cannot succeed unless Russia suffers further disaster in the field. Just before the duma was dissolved last month, a great sensation was caused by a radical deputy who read in open session a secret memorial which he said nearly one hundred members of the right or pro-German party had sent to the government.

This document painted in most gloomy colors the position of Russia, and said that the surgery felt the czar must withdraw from the war at once unless the government could give assurances of prompt and decisive field victories. An uproar was caused by the disclosure, the accused deputy shouting "Forgery," and the censorship suppressed all references to the affair. Nobody in Petrograd, my informant states, believes the memorial was forged.

The peace party is headed by General Count Fredericks, minister of the imperial household, and M. Jorinsky, the aged reactionary who was recently bluffed into resigning the premiership by threats from M. Rodzianko, president of the duma, that charges of treason would be openly brought against him in the chamber. M. M. Stuermer, the new premier, is a wily diplomat who expressed friendship for the progressive movement and flattered the duma when he took office, but his recent actions since the sorely harassed Russian parliament dissolved have proved that he is under the control of Gorenkyin.

Facts Evident.

Some of the amazing activities of Stuermer and his reactionary officials would be incredible if the fact were not glaringly evident. The Russian disasters last year were largely due to ammunition shortages, and this shortage was caused in great measure by pro-German control of the munition and supply factories, and of the railways. Russia's successes at present are entirely due to the formation of war production committees all over Russia, composed of prominent manufacturers, bankers and merchants, who with the help of the duma took over the control of the great munition plants, secured contracts from the government, and saw that they were carried out. Most private factories in the country are now under the control of these committees.

During the recess of the duma the bureaucracy called a meeting of the governors of all the provinces of European Russia, who are creatures of the reactionary party and not responsible to parliament. At this meeting measures were discussed to put an end to the interference of the progressive elements, whose activities have greatly alarmed the bureaucracy. Bureaucratic officials, appointed by the governor of each province, have been forcibly placed on the war production committees, while the war office has been instructed to refuse to grant contracts to the committees except in case of "urgent necessity."

In order to which the duma would never consent, has been issued on the authority of clause 87 of the fundamental laws of the empire, which gives the government authority to legislate during the recess of the duma in "cases of vital necessity."

Forbids Session.

Premier Stuermer has just forbidden the session in Petrograd of the national congress of representatives of all the war committees, men who have given their time and talents towards organizing Russian industry for victory. The program of this congress was announced as follows: First, mobilization of public forces to promote and help the work of the war committees; secondly, the promotion of Russian self-help; thirdly, the organization of a fight against German financial, economic and political influence over Russian affairs; and fourthly, the promotion of a cultural and economic union between the Slav nations.

Nothing the bureaucracy has done during the war aroused the opinion of the progressive parties so much as the ban placed on this meeting, whose only object was to help the country win the war. In Petrograd, by methods at which the most corrupt political bosses in American cities would open their eyes, the reactionaries have just won a majority in the election for the municipal council, and their first step has been to vote the abolition of the Petrograd branch of the town congress, which in co-operation with the zemstvo has organized the army ambulance service, and reformed the army commissary department, so that soldiers now get enough to eat and grafting contractors make smaller profits. The town congress before being voted out of existence received a telegram from the czar congratulating it on its work for the troops, and backed by the liberal press of the capital and the whole progressive block in the duma, comprising four-fifths of the membership, the congress has refused to quit, relying upon agitation in parliament to save its life.

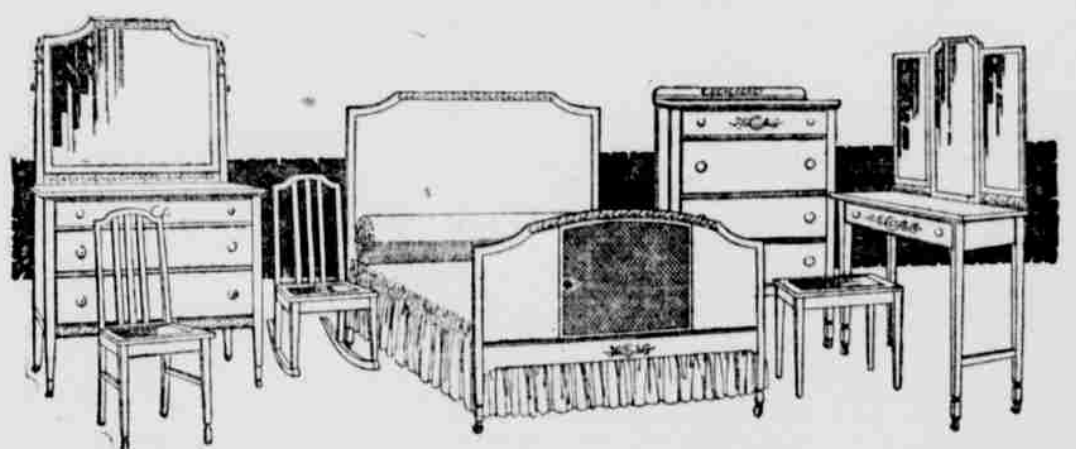

The Russian governmental scandals are due to the fact that the small bureaucratic party has control of most of the machinery of government, and while it does not love the German, considers itself bound to "serve" the monarchial principle in Europe, believing that if the Prussian militarist clique is destroyed, its turn will come next. FISH IN THE OIL
SECTION ARE DEAD

State Game Warden Calls Attention to Peculiar Situation.

Tulsa county officials have been notified by John Chenoweth, state game warden, that fish are dying in a number of ponds in this part of the state and seeks the assistance of the authorities in an investigation looking to the causes of such a condition. For the most part the reports come from farmers, Mr. Chenoweth informed the officials, who have dug ponds on their own places. Samples of water from several of the ponds have been taken and are being given a chemical analysis by state chemists. It is said that whatever the reason for the fish deaths, it is a matter of some importance to drop off the fish and affects their eyesight, after which they die.

After a cursory investigation experts ventured the assertion that some chemical may have come through the earth into the water. If this is the case, it may develop that Oklahoma soil holds some heretofore undiscovered properties.

The officers here have taken the matter up and intend to make a thorough canvass of the county within the next several weeks.

NO LEAKS DURING DEWEY ROUNDUP

Bootleggers Find That Bartlesville Officials Are Going to Be on Alert.

Special to The World.

BARTLESVILLE, July 1.—Bootleggers who saw a chance to "make a killing" have been given a solar plexus blow in the form of a roundup of County Attorney E. E. Hoyt that Bartlesville is to remain as "dry" as an Arizona desert during the four days of the roundup. The "dill" is not to be lifted even a wee bit, the prosecutor says.

As a result of the order of the county attorney, which means no intoxicating liquor will be sold, South Coffeyville house merchants will read a harvest.

Already a score of livery cars are being operated between Dewey, Bartlesville and South Coffeyville and the "cabbies" are doing a flourishing business hauling a thirsty public to the Kansas line. The action of the county attorney also means that the so-called liberal element and the "dry" element will go to the max in the primary election fight.

The Human Element

Is each year becoming more and more recognized by manufacturers.

In the selection of employees the Merrill Millwork Co. eliminates those who do not take a personal interest in the appearance and quality of the finished product.

It costs more money to turn out millwork RIGHT than "good enough" but it makes satisfied customers.

Advertising brings customers, but it takes quality and service to hold them. Merrill Millwork Co. has no trouble holding their customers, for the reason that they first convince them that—

MERRILL QUALITY AND SERVICE COSTS MONEY—BUT IT'S WORTH IT.

PEN GETS A NEW WARDEN

Sam L. Morley Is Appointed, While R. W. Dick Steps Down.

Special to The World.

MALESTER, July 1.—Samuel L. Morley, formerly member of the state board of affairs, is now warden of the state penitentiary, succeeding R. W. Dick, but so far as outward appearances were concerned nobody would know a change in prison administration was taking place today.

Neither Mr. Dick nor Mr. Morley was in town. Mr. Dick hasn't returned from Washington and Mr. Morley will not come from Oklahoma City until Monday.

Misnomer.

"I can't understand why those two lawyers call it a deed of trust."

"From the cure with which they are drawing it up it is quite evident that they don't trust each other."

A Short Farewell.

"I fear that I can never marry you."

"Farewell, then, cruel girl; farewell forever!"

"Nonsense, Ingomar. Come around tomorrow night."

Verb. Sap.

"What a beautiful dog, Miss Ethel!" exclaimed her bashful admirer. "Is he affectionate?" she asked. "Is he affectionate?" she asked.
